Kick up your feet in a pair of K-Swiss' cute candy-colored high-tops.

When Marc Jacobs, leader of the style pack, sends vibrantly hued high-tops marching up and down the spring Marc by Marc Jacobs runway, you know it's time to put away the booties and ballet flats and take the next step forward. Now even classic shoe labels are upping their fashion game. K-Swiss (the tennis brand best known for its simple white sneaker overlaid with five white stripes) adds some color to its palette with a collection of glossy, streamlined high-tops cast in pretty pastels, from lavender to canary yellow and powder pink. Sub a pair for platform sandals or heels to bring the season's hottest trends—like pale skinny jeans—a breath of fresh air. —E.G.
